

Oxfordshire's COMMUNITY TRANSPORT

There are over 80 minibus and car schemes across Oxfordshire, directly responding to local needs for transport and plugging gaps in public services.

80+
schemes

1400+
volunteers

These schemes are run by over 1400 volunteers, often developed to support people traveling to health appointments, though often created when public bus services stop running.

Because they're community led, these transport schemes can offer a friendly, welcoming, and accessible service that acts as a lifeline for many people.

"The bus often resembles a social club as the passengers chat and look after each other"

"Its an absolute lifeline for people like me in a place like this" Sheila, Passenger
